

© maxximmm — stock.adobe.com

Winter Storm Inga Causes Hundreds of Flight Cancellations and Heads East

---

Over Monday night and into Tuesday, Winter Storm Inga has coursed through Central Texas, bringing freezing rain and sleet to the city and adversely affecting flights into and out from Houston's George Bush Intercontinental Airport. The storm is expected to track into Northeast and Southern parts of the U.S., including parts of Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York. Icy roads may result in congested traffic and delayed cargo, as well as pushbacks on flights due to less-than-favorable conditions.

For pressing inquiries and updates, please reach your local KWE branch for information.